

ANALYST - INSURANCE OPERATIONS (REMOTE JOB)

Job description

Do you have a good eye (or two) for detail? Would you like to travel (virtually) to different lands from the comfort of your own desk? Are you passionate (about something, anything!)? Are you brave enough to change up the work environment you know, to a new and exciting one?

As we are successfully reaching the next and extremely exciting phase of growth, we are looking for a new comrade to join our stellar universe, right here in Krakow!

We are on the lookout for an exceptional species - someone with insurance know-how, who can think outside the box; but also someone who is humble and approachable - to accompany us on our mission of uniqueness and excellence. If this is you, then look no further! Being an Analyst in our growing Insurance Operations team in Krakow, you will partner with our European clients and focus on delivering top-notch strategic operations and analytical support throughout the entire end-to-end insurance product lifecycle.

Requirements

The following requirements are crucial for this role and will make you confident in carrying out your deliverables for our clients:

- Strong analytical and problem-solving skills.
- High attention to detail.
- Creativity and ability to question the status quo.
- Strong Excel skills.
- Very good knowledge of English and good knowledge of French or German.
- Experience in analyzing documents (financial and non-financial) and drawing conclusions.
- Interest in working in a dynamic international environment.
- A positive personality along with a great sense of humor (non-negotiable!).
- And what is important for us is the ability to organize your own time and to take the initiative

What you can expect from us

- Unique professional and personal development at one of the pioneers in professional insurance support.
- Exposure to the global insurance industry.
- Ongoing professional training.
- Your own personal training budget.
- Luxmed medical cover for you, with the option to extend cover to your family/partner.
- Flexible work hours (we start between 7 and 10am).
- Competitive salary.
- Flexible benefits.
- A supportive and friendly atmosphere created by passionate people.
